“Start writing, no matter what. The water does not flow until the faucet is turned on.”

– Louis L’Amour

Writing is a critical part of the Primary curriculum at NAIS Pudong; it helps children to become better communicators and to express their thoughts and ideas in a clear and structured way. At the end of last term, we held a student showcase to demonstrate the outstanding progress our students make across the course of a single academic year. Parents were invited into the school to help them understand more about how their children learn and were given presentations by the students in various formats.

This booklet serves as a digital showcase of just some of those examples of outstanding progress in writing.

Skipin to the Jurassic age

Imagine a time were there was no technology, where no humans existed, were dinosaurs ruled the earth: this is a story of that time.

When Y4A visited the Shanghai museum, Jack was fascinated by the Jurassic display. A gigantic tooth fossil of a t-rex caught his attention - its sharp, pointy edge flickered in the light and shimmered like a gemstone.

As the other children milled to the second opium war section, Jack waited. When he was alone, he reached and touched the fossil. He felt a hot, stinging sting. Suddenly, the museum disappeared, and he was standing in a gigantic forest. Big, tall trees were looming over him; strange looking creatures was drinking water from a small river. Jack gasped. He knew exactly where he was.

A group of little and large t-rex walk angrily from a cave towards him, "Oh gosh!" Jack shouted. At the front there was the biggest and strongest t-rex striding towards him. He held his head of his heart, t-rex roared right at Jack...

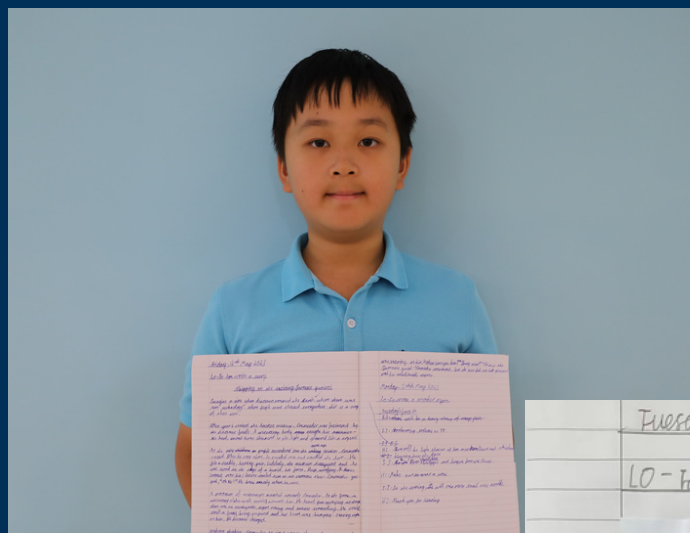

...without thinking, Jack ran towards an opening in a huge cave as fast as he could. When he was in the cave he could see a gigantic, deadly spider sitting on a spider web, Jack heard something. Terrified, he turned around. In front of him he saw a Tarantula the size of a truck. "It is going to be the end of my life!" he said.

...Suddenly he saw something that was shining. He knew that light, he ran towards it and without thinking...

The heaven in Croatia.

Last year I visited a national park at Croatia, there is lots of lakes and the water is as clear as crystal. Around the lakes there are lots of tall chalk cliffs and on the other side of the lake there is a magnificent waterfall which is thirty meters tall. There is also lots of picnic spots and on the side of the path tall, old oak trees stand. In the river there is lots of different types of fish and there is underwater plants and grass. The famous magical beast lives in the forest, its fingers were made out of fire and it has a fin like a fish. Super!

The Lion and the Mouse

A Lion lay asleep in the forest, his great head resting on his paws. A timid little Mouse came upon him unexpectedly, and in her fright and haste to get away, ran across the Lion's nose. Roused from his nap, the Lion laid his huge paw angrily on the tiny creature to kill her.

"Spare me!" Legged the poor Mouse. "Please let me go and some day I will surely repay you."

The Lion was much amused to think that a Mouse could ever help him. But he was generous and finally let the Mouse go.

Some days later, while stalking his prey in the forest, the Lion was caught in the toils of a hunter's net. Unable to free himself, he filled the forest with his angry roaring. The Mouse knew the voice and quickly found the Lion struggling in the net. Running to one of the great ropes that bound him, she gnawed it until it parted, and soon the Lion was free.

"You laughed when I said I would repay you," said the Mouse. "Now you see that even a Mouse can help a Lion."

The Secret of Mayas

I imagine a time where people believed that eclipses were made by gods, where rainforests were full of civilisations, where the first cocoa was found: this is a story of that time. When Year 6 went to the Florida Museum, Franky was amazed by the Ancient Maya display. A middle-sized spear caught his attention - its sharp, reflecting edges shone under the Sun and sparkled like glass.

As other children skipped into the ancient China section, Franky waited. When he was alone, he stretched out and ~~tot~~ tapped on the spear, he felt a cold, scratchy sting. All of a sudden, the museum ~~disapp~~ disappeared and he was standing in the middle of city. Tall, massive cocoa trees swayed behind him; strange writing were carved onto the walls. Sprinting through the city, he almost fainted as he saw some huge, rocky pyramids in front of him. He froze. He ~~knew~~ knew exactly where he was.

A platoon of warriors strode towards him. In the middle, a thin tall man in a strange mask stamped towards him. He saw different patterns on his sword. The army was protecting an old, fat man with a huge crown - like rock on his head. He glared at him and pointed in disbelief...

Impetuously Franky sprinted into a hole in a pyramid. Inside, a smell of rotten food and ~~body~~ bodies engulfed his nostrils. Behind him, yelling began. Spinning, he saw the thin man in front of him.

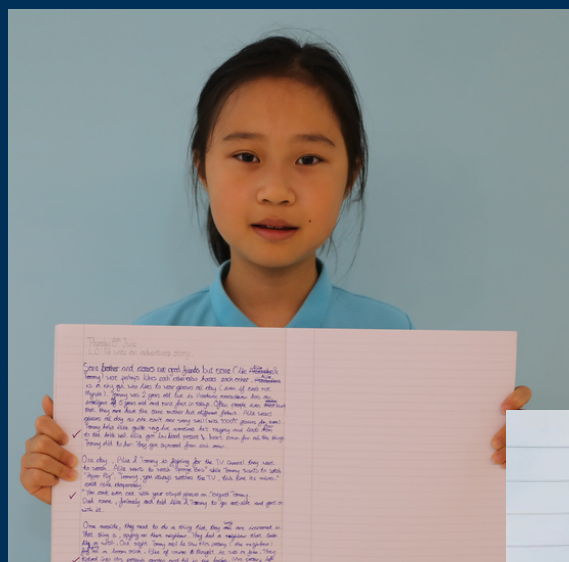

Something cut his leg, he bowed down and saw the same spear that he time traveled with. Rapidly, he tapped on the sword and felt the cold, scratchy feel and... Boom!! The teacher stared at him hands on hips. "Where have you been?" asked the teacher.

"At the Ancient Mayas!" Franky stammered, but the teacher did not look pleased with his answer.

"Maybe that noise is a lake or a river" - Hansel yelled.

"~~Probably~~ Probably, ok let's go" - Gretel said.

After a ~~while~~ while, the noise was more stronger.

"We are near I think..." Hansel said.

"I hope we are!!" - Gretel answered.

They walk and walk and the noise was always more stronger.

and after they found where the noise come from, it was a huge fantastic waterfall there was some trees and plants around it.

"It's awesome!" - Gretel yelled.

"Yes... let's take some water because this journey will continue for long days." - Hansel said.

After they take a lot of water they were happy and they continue their path...

They ~~was~~ arrived in a stronger place they can heard a lot of noise, there was a lot of grass, tall bamboo all around.

"I don't think this is normal..." Gretel said.

"Someone pass here and put the rock like this" - Hansel responded.

After a while of walking on that path Gretel heard a strange noise; "Did you hear that?" Gretel asked Hansel.

"Yes what was that? It was like a scream!!" Hansel said (with a scary face).

In the breeze you can ~~see~~ smell a strange smell.

"It very bad is like when you wash your clothes without soap" - Gretel yelled.

"HaHaHa, very funny Gretel..." Hansel answered (with an annoying face).

And they decide to walk more quicker because they're taking too long.

"We need to go on the mountain" Hansel said.

"Ok... but we need to ~~cross~~ cross the forest" - Gretel said.

"Yes I know, do you wanna kill all of the witches? That they nearly kill us." Hansel said.

"Yes, I want!" - Gretel said. So, they continue walking.

The night is coming, but the mountains are still far away, so I set up a camp. The stars shine brightly in the night sky, as telling them of the dangers ahead. Suddenly, he spotted something moving in the sand, he over and bent down to see, it's a crab! It is a crab with orange and red shell, it's tiny, black eyes looking terrified. and it's black, sharp pincers moving up and down. He lay down on his head and took it's shells gently, hoping it would not hurt him. The next thing he heard, SPLASH! Waves as tall as mountains crashed to the ground, he, the crab and his took all fell into to the strong, angry waves, the boy, the crab covered in bubbles, with sea-foam, water helpfully of himself being dragged by the heavy, blue sea, all of a sudden, the waves stopped the crab fighting and retreated slowly to a calm ocean.

The boy was soaked, cold and wet and frightened by the strong and cruelty of the wave. He sat there, breathing, his body cold and wet, his legs and feet were in goosey, disgusting seaweed, beside him, his bucket and spade is half buried in the soft, white sand. Far away, a little boy on a mat or deckchair under parasols, enjoying the high, blue sky and the warm sunlight, children running around, playing with the calm sea, trying every bit of happiness they have spent on the shiny, soft beach. Far behind where he sat, grasses moves in the cool breeze, houses stood there still and strong like a statue, but no one has noticed him, no one.

He looks out to the sea, and in front of white sea-foam, where he has been dragged by the angry, cruel ocean, the little crab is there, basking away from a... Ebbam! It was also covered in green seaweed, what is it! he wondered. It looks like a very old-fashioned camera that has been thrown in to the sea years ago! He walked towards it, and picked it up from the wet sand, he ran fingers through it, cleaning it is a camera! It has been looked up for years, cameras grew on them, and on the camera it's written in big letters - underwater camera, a under the letters there is a picture of a huge, angry octopus. The boy is very curious.

The boy stood there, thinking, his hands under chin, he has a thought. He ran to the beach, a quick as a flash, he ran to his parents, his parents looked at each other, not knowing what to do. He ran to his parents and showed them this strange, old-fashioned underwater camera, they both stared at it, wide-eyed, also curious, but not knowing what is it. His parents took him to the life-guard who is sitting on a tall chair, watching out for danger. The boy showed the life-guard this mysterious underwater camera, he struggled, also not knowing what is it. But, he did not gave up, he lay to the mat and carefully disassembled the camera, the he discovered it beautifully, his fingertips tapping the sides, he opened it and found a strange, yellow tube inside it, with numbers on the top. He put pulled it out and wondered what is it. Suddenly he realized, what is it! he ran through the gleaming white sand, bare feet, he ran through the street he bumped into houses and shops, and there, he finally arrived to his destination, a one-hour photo shop! There, a young woman in a blue shirt saw blue jeans is busy in the phone. She saw the boy running, out of breath, she simply read out her list for a film. The boy gave her this strange, yellow tube, the woman slowly turned around, and reached a hand to the shells, she grabbed a film and returned it him without looking. He opened the box without
